

Notes and articles transcribed by Lyndesay G. Langwill (1897-1983) and given to Richard Rastall as carbon copies of typescripts

A Handlist

Lyndesay Langwill was widely-read, and apparently made extracts from, and notes on, many books and articles that dealt with waits, wind-instruments, and their players. The typewritten notes given to me c1975 were evidently compiled by him over many years in the course of his work on waits. Some of the material here will be well-known, and some republished in REED (Records of Early English Drama) volumes and elsewhere; some is obviously out of date and can safely be ignored; some has been updated in the light of later research.

Individual researchers will no doubt make critical use of this as a bibliography: I hope that it will prove useful. In due course it may be possible to computerise the most helpful parts of Mr Langwill's material and post it on the Waits' website.
